1 Introduction

The University of Copenhagen conducts graduate surveys for all professional Bachelor's, Academic Bachelor's, Master's Candidatus and Master's degrees, as well as Diploma and Academy Profession (AP) programmes according to a shared concept of data collection developed across the faculties.

The graduate surveys gather information about what the graduates are doing after their graduation, and how conditions during their studies have been influential in their later employment situation. Among other things, the graduates assess to what degree the skills achieved from their education have been relevant and sought after in the jobs they get after completing their education. Moreover, the graduates evaluate whether their education has been structured to ensure that the study programme can be completed without delay, and whether there is anything in the programme that could be improved to better prepare them for the job market.

Education Services at the University of Copenhagen is responsible for the graduate survey itself. Rambøll handles the acquisition of data and prepares a report based on the data from the questionnaires. The reporting of the graduate survey takes place on three levels: university, faculty and educational programme. This report is for Chemistry.

Compared to previous reports in connection with the institution accreditation, the 2015 reports also include small, built-in analyses by cross-referencing information. The background for this is the fact that the results of the questionnaire had been adapted and reworked by the individual institutes. Therefore, Education Services has in collaboration with Rambøll worked on improving the report template so that the complete report can, as far as possible, cover the common needs that the institutions have.

The institution accreditation comprises an assessment of many educational programmes, all of which receive a report like this one. Therefore, it has been necessary to standardise the text so that it can be included generically in the reports for all types of educational programme. Throughout the report, there are guidance and notes on the individual sections and graphs. All faculties have received the complete data material for the faculty's educational programmes, which are included in this graduate survey. Thus, this report provides an overview of the survey's results, which can be further investigated by looking into the data.

2 Data

2.1 The graduate survey

After the completion of their education programme, all graduates from the University of Copenhagen were invited to take part in the graduate survey. The University of Copenhagen offers the following types of education programmes:

- Academic Bachelor's degree
- Professional Bachelor's degree
- Master's Candidatus degree
- Master's degree
- Diploma programmes
- Academy Profession (AP) programmes (from 2016)

From 2015 all the faculties at the University of Copenhagen will use the same questionnaire for the collection of data in connection with graduate surveys in order to provide the opportunity to compare the results across educational programmes and faculties.

2.2 Reporting

This report is based on the graduate survey questionnaire data collected from graduates during the period 27 October to 27 November 2015. The purpose of the report is to provide a summary of the data. The table shows a summary of the data from the graduate study with response rates, etc. from Chemistry graduates.

2.2.1 Table: Summary of collected data

	Bachelor	Master	Total
Invited	103	56	159
Completed	53%	34%	47%
Partially completed	3%	4%	3%
Total	56%	38%	50%
Did not wish to participate	2%	9%	4%
Did not reply	42%	54%	46%

Appendix 1 shows a summary of the questions from the questionnaire used in this report.

2.3 Background data from the study administrative system STADS

The individual graduates in the survey have been linked to the variables from the study administrative system STADS described in Appendix 2. The Table shows how representative the data is for Chemistry when the entire graduates who were asked to reply to the questionnaire were compared to the graduates who chose to participate by responding to the questionnaire based on the background variables.

Among the background variables, the following variables from STADS are considered significant when it comes to studying how representative the graduate survey is:

- Gender
- Average age at study start/average age at graduation
- Completion time of Bachelor's and Master's Candidatus studies
- Grades for thesis/Bachelor's paper
- Graduates who are foreign citizens
- Quota 1/2

2.3.1 Table: Facts about the respondents, broken down into graduate status

	Bachelor total	Bachelor participated	Master Candidatus total	Master Candidatus

Percentage women	49%	57%	45%	52%

Average age upon graduation	24.9	24.5	27.9	28.7
- youngest	21.6	21.6	23.9	24.2
- eldest	50.4	50.4	42.4	42.4
Completion time (average years)	3.2	3.2	2.5	2.6
- shortest completion time	0.2	0.2	1.1	1.1
- longest completion time	8.4	6.9	6.3	6.3
Quota 2 at BA-entrance	0%	0%	0%	0%
Years from qualifying exam to commencement of study (average)	2.1	1.8	5.5	6.6
- shortest time from qualifying exam to commencement of study (average)	0	0	0	3
- longest time from qualifying exam to commencement of study (average)	29	29	23	23
Bachelor's programme as first priority	97%	97%	70%	81%
Grading of Bachelor's paper/Master's thesis (average)	10.4	10.5	10.9	11.4
- lowest grade	2	2	7	10
- highest grade	12	12	12	12

For future analyses of data from graduate surveys it can be relevant to examine, aside from being representative, whether the data can be biased. Respondents could, for example, be biased in the assessment of their education, if they are unsuccessful on the job market.

2.4 Reading guide

In order to make the report more readable and to live up to various ethical principles, this section explains in brief how the data is presented in this report. The report has been made for many educational programmes; in addition, there are joint reports on faculty level and for the University of Copenhagen as a whole. As described in the introduction, it has thus been necessary to work with a standardised report structure, partly on financial grounds, both in terms of the content of the tables, graphs and the text itself. The following text is thus intended to help the reader in reading the report.

For the Chemistry educational programme, a report template has been used that comprises Professional Bachelor's degrees, Academic Bachelor's degrees and Master's Candidatus degrees. For the University of Copenhagen as a whole, it makes sense to look at Master's Candidatus and Professional Bachelor's degrees in the same section, as these are programmes where the graduates complete their education at the university. The reader might though have a report for a specific education at hand that does not comprise a Professional Bachelor's degree programme. At time of writing, the University of Copenhagen offers Professional Bachelor's degrees in dentistry under the Faculty of Health and Medical Sciences and the Bachelor's degree in Forest and Landscape Engineering at SCIENCE. The reader is therefore asked to consider that it has been necessary to standardise the text so that it also reads Professional Bachelor's degree, even though this may not be relevant to the education written in the actual report. The format of the report is also untraditional in the way that the tables and graphs are not numbered consecutively throughout the report. On the contrary, it was decided to let the numbering of the questions in the tables and graphs refer directly to the numbering of the questions in the questionnaire. The entire questionnaire is designed around the introductory question about the current job situation, which provides a good overview of the respondents included in this report. Depending on which answer the graduates give for their job status in Q.1.1 or Q.1.7, there will be a round of questions that the graduates have answered. A complete summary of the answers to the questions is shown in the following table:

2.4.1 Q.1.1./Q.1.7. What is your current job situation?

	Bachelor	Master Candidatus
I am employed (including leave of absence, maternity leave, job with wage subsidies, part-time hirings, etc.)	16% (9)	45% (9)
I am self-employed (including freelance)	0% (0)	0% (0)
I am unemployed (including on maternity leave without being under contract of employment)	2% (1)	5% (1)
I am in full-time education (e.g. Candidatus programme)	62% (36)	0% (0)
I am on a Ph.D programme	14% (8)	50% (10)
Other	7% (4)	0% (0)
Number of replies	58	20

Figures in this table can be included in the text in the individual sections. If there is a figure for candidates in this table, they could also be included in the following section on candidates, for example. The table here provides a complete summary of the types of figures included in this report.

For Q.1.1 in the table, the respondents have just one possible answer. If a respondent has a part-time job with supplementary benefit, the respondent should select the category, "I am in work". In some cases, the individual questions in the questionnaire have just one possible answer; in other cases, multiple answers are permitted. With a single answer option, a percentage breakdown of the respondents according to answer will add up to 100 per cent as in a relative breakdown, and otherwise the sum of the percentages will be higher than 100 per cent. The graphs in the report thus provide a clear indication of whether there is a single answer option or multiple answers.

In general, the total "n" for the graphs and tables, as well as what it covers, is made clear in the text. In some situations, "n" is the total number of respondents in the graduate study while in other situations, "n" can be conditional on the respondents who are in work, for example. Based on the graph it is then possible to estimate how many respondents there are in the individual categories.

The graduate survey invites all graduates in a given population to answer the questionnaire, where the response rate can be small. The collected data does not therefore represent a complete survey, but rather a random sample. To ensure anonymity, when the number of respondents is small, the results on the following questions:

What is your monthly salary?

Do you supplement the income earned from your primary occupation?

Do you receive unemployment benefit or social assistance benefits in connection with your unemployed status?

Why do you think you do not have a job at the moment?

are only shown if at least three respondents have answered that question. Be aware that too few respondents can increase the statistical uncertainty significantly, and the percentage indications can fluctuate a lot if one respondent is added or removed.

4 Correlation between Master's Candidatus/Professional Bachelor's education programmes and the job market

A main element in the educational programmes offered by the faculty is that they prepare the graduates as well as possible for the job market by giving them the skills that are sought after by employers. The graduate surveys of the University of Copenhagen can thus gather information on the graduates' assessment of how much the educational programmes have prepared them for the job market. The question is whether the Master's Candidatus/Professional Bachelor's graduates experience that there is agreement between the skills they are expected to possess on the job market and the skills they have acquired during their education at the University of Copenhagen.

4.1 Academic correlation between studies and job

4.1.1 Q.1.12./Q.1.13. How would you describe the correlation between your area of study and your job?

The figure for question Q.1.12./Q.1.13. shows how the Masters Candidatus/Professional Bachelors assess the correlation between their education and their job.

The distribution is shown as a percentage.

4.2 The ability of the study programme to prepare the graduates for working life

4.2.1 Q.2.1. To what degree do you feel that your programme of study has adequately prepared you for your working life?

The figure shows what percentage of the Masters Candidatus/Professional Bachelors that have chosen the specific category.

The categories do not sum up to 100 as several categories are available for selection.

4.2.3 Q.2.2./Q.2.3. Correlation between acquired skills and skills sought after on the labour market

The figure shows the labour market demanded skills from question Q.2.3. out the x-axis and acquired skills from question Q.2.2. up the y-axis.

The numbers on the bars for the specific skills in the figure shows the average in the degree the respondents have answered to have acquired the following skills through their education measured on a scale from 1 to 4, where 1 is 'Not at all', 2 is 'to a lesser degree', 3 is 'to some degree' and 4 is 'to a high degree'.

4.2.3.1 Top 5 skills

Figure 1 for question Q.2.2. shows the 5 skills the Masters Candidatus/Professional Bachelors feel they have acquired to the highest degree through their programme of study and that they think the labour market to the highest degree demands. The responses for each skill are displayed with a bar.

4.2.3.2 Bottom 5 skills

13 Appendix 4: List of Bachelors' examples of elements of the study programme that did not contribute to the collective goals of the teaching offer

- - Forlæsninger uden samtidsfeedback fra elever virker totalt overflødig.
- - Manglen af større projektopgaver understøtter ikke at eksamen i bachelor/kandidatgrader er en stor opgave, og hvis man skal lære det er det nød til også at være del af undervisningen.
- - Der undervises meget lidt i gruppearbejde og mundlig fremlæggelse af ens arbejde.
- Blok strukturen gør det svært at få en kontinueret følelse gennem uddannelsen. Men har set på den nye opbygning opbygning af første år på kemi og den virker til at have en god sammenhængskraft.
- Der var alt for lavt niveau i de første fag man havde, i forhold til de sidste fag
- Jeg synes der er enkelte fag som jeg ikke har haft glæde af i og med at min interesse lå i en helt anden retning og faget derfor blot optog en plads jeg ellers kunne have brugt til specialiseringen indenfor "mit felt"
- KemiBin, det var obligatorisk og udover bogens glimrende første tabel, har jeg ikke skulle bruge noget jeg lærte i det fag, som jeg ikke lærte i et andet, når man tager den samme retning som jeg har.
- Læringsmetoden, det er et mål at lære noget inden for en kort tid, men ikke at fastholde den viden.
- Tidligere var biologifag en del af medicinalkemi specialiseringen på KU. Disse fag har jeg dog ikke set som brugbare og de er heller ikke længere en del af specialiseringen. Kunne godt have brugt de ECTS point på andre fag, der havde været mere relevante for mig.
- Vi havde om litteratursøgning tre gange...
- det samlede mål var ikke så veldefineret og nogle fag endte med at virke ligegyldige
- dårlig planlægning af labøvelser og lokaler, og tiltider upædagogiske professorer

14 Appendix 5: List of examples of elements of the study programme that did not contribute to the collective goals of the teaching offer divided on Masters Candidatus and Professional Bachelors

- Kandidat: Det er det evige problem med at fag ligger oveni hinanden, så hvis man f.eks. gerne ville have to fag der ligger samtidigt, må man vente et år med at tage det ene. I mit tilfælde blev det fag jeg var nødt til at vente med at tage nedlagt året efter.

Fag der kun udbydes hvert andet år giver også skemamæssige problemer.

- Kandidat: Strukturen med begrænset valgfrihed er potentielt hæmmende for at opnå fuldt læringsudbytte
- Kandidat: Pga. specifikke krav til hvilke kasser ECTS pointsene skulle komme fra var det ikke muligt udelukkende at vælge relevante fag.
- Kandidat: diverse obligatoriske etik kurser
